Foam Rubber Sheets

Foam rubber is an extremely versatile, lightweight, and flexible expanded material used across a wide range of industrial, craft, and technical applications. It is valued for its cushioning, insulating, and sound-absorbing properties.

Commercially available in both blocks and sheets, we specialize exclusively in the supply of foam rubber sheets, offered in various thicknesses to meet every need-from surface and object protection to padding, gaskets, linings, and technical packaging.

Our sheets are precisely cut and ready to use, making them ideal for:

- Thermal and acoustic insulation
- Shock-absorbing packaging
- Automotive and industrial applications
- Crafting, modeling, and DIY projects
- Linings and padding

Choose the convenience of foam rubber sheets: flexible, easy to work with, and available in 1 x 2 meter formats with customizable thicknesses to suit your specific needs.
